The Department of International Trade Promotion (DITP), Ministry of Commerce has announced it is organizing the 58th Bangkok Gems and Jewelry Fair, from September 7-11, 2016 at IMPACT Exhibition and Convention Center, Muang Thong Thani. Previously managed by the Thai Gem and Jewelry Traders Association, this year’s grand exhibition shall be an integrated public and private sector collaboration under the DITP, making the kingdom a significant manufacturing and trading center, comprising raw materials to finished goods, in the global jewelry trade.

This year’s grand gems and jewelry exhibition places special emphasis on advancing the role of the Thai jewelry industry on the international stage through increased trade opportunities by expanding the extensive list of local and regional traders to prominent global buyers. The DITP is now working toward elevating the Bangkok Gems and Jewelry Fair to rank among the world’s top three industry trade shows by the year 2018.

Based on the new DITP working model, this event also aims to set precedence for future gems and jewelry expos by enhancing the image of the exhibition, beginning with a new and highly secure contemporary layout, highlighting the latest fashion trends and cutting-edge designs, focus toward specific target groups such as seniors and men, all the way to pet lovers, not to mention jewelry for special occasions such as weddings and Mother’s Day, etc., whilst providing an open forum for today’s most influential designers and master jewelers; with hopes to help uplift not just the Thai, but international gems and jewelry industry.

This grand event takes place from September 7-11, 2016 at Challenger Halls 1 to 3, IMPACT Exhibition and Convention Center, Muang Thong Thani. Registration commences in May 2016. Interested exhibitors are welcome to contact the Department of International Trade Promotion (DITP), Office of Fashion and Lifestyle Business Development (Gems and Jewelry Products).
